

EROAD MESSAGING

EROAD Messaging makes communication with your fleet easy, with a secure, real-time connection between you and your drivers. Messages are delivered between the EROAD Depot and our in-vehicle hardware so your drivers always know where and when their next job is, improving productivity and fleet safety.

Stay in touch

Relying on phone calls to stay in touch with your drivers is inefficient and a potential safety risk. EROAD's innovative messaging solution keeps you connected with your fleet in real time, so you can reorganize routes, make adjustments to job schedules, and keep your customers happy.

EROAD Messaging is a cost-effective way of communicating, eliminating the need for additional data plans, third-party hardware and obsolete data terminals. Send messages to one driver, or your entire fleet, and see when they've been received and read.

The less time your drivers have to spend on the phone, the safer they are, and the more they can focus on what they're paid to do — driving.
